

Allen C. Sayers

August 24, 1923 - December 13, 2008

Allen C. Sayers of Hainesport, died Saturday December 13, 2008 at the Masonic Home in Burlington. He was 85. "Doc" as he was known to family and friends had been a fixture in South Jersey Veterinary Medicine for more than 40 years.

He is survived by his wife, Ellen, who when reflecting on Doc's life, remembered how he only wanted two things in life: 1. To provide quality Veterinary care at a reasonable price to as many animals as possible; 2. To take care of his best friend, confidant and wife, Ellen. He certainly accomplished both of those things.

"Doc" was born in Camden and graduated from Franklin and Marshall University, and the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School. He was a member and past master of F & AM #14 in Mount Holly; the Excelsior Consistory in Camden, and the York Rite.

In keeping with Doc's wishes, there will be no service of any kind. Whether you knew Doc personally or not, he will be flattered and humbled if, in your moments of remembrance, you remember him as the kind and gentle humanitarian that he was. Contributions in his memory may be made to the Mount Holly Lodge #14 F & AM, 15 Garden St., Mt. Holly, NJ 08060.
