“ The gospel song "This Little Light Of Mine" is what I will remember about Dominick. He was a private and quiet man, but his actions shined with brilliance and intensity. He shared his time and experience to those that needed it and was willing to listen. He was selfless and put his needs before others - plowing you out of snow so you can get to work, replacing a coworker's engine on his days off, or being enthralled in his work experience. To those that knew him, he will be truly missed, but let this little light shine as his memories will live on forever.
