“ I remember one winter day in in 1957. It was very cold that day. We were sitting in the classroom that morning and snow started snowing and Frank stood up in the classroom and as the snow was falling (very lightly at first). Then as it was falling Frank moved his arms up then. As he did the snowflakes changed their direction. Up when Frank moved his arms up then down and the snowflakes changed their direction both up then down. This went on for about 10 minutes. Then Frank went all the way down and that was it. Snow began to fall at an alarming rate. We finally got about 10 inches of snow. And it was very funny as Frank seemed in control of the snow. But of course it wasn't !!!

“ Dear Ginger,

When I first saw your Dad lying there in his casket this evening, I shed some tears. I hadn't seen him in so long, because I stopped going down to Barnegat Light with Michael in 2003. Even though I was startled to see him like that, I felt that he was comfortable and at peace. I also thought that he looked really good!

It was a perfect & lovely service.

It was so good to give you a Great, Big Hug most of all!!! I was really happy to meet Bob & Monica, Karen, Patty & Jimmy, Jeanette & Jimmy, and others, and of course your main squeeze, Dan.

Michael and I are worried about him concerning his diabetes. He needs to take it very seriously. Timely medicine is key!

Ginger, we are so sorry for you, we are praying for you in everything that is important to you in your life. You'll always have lifelong friends in Michael & I.

Michael's cell # is 908-230-8841

My cell # (Jenny) is 862-579-5053

P.S. I hope your Dad & your Mom reunite in Heaven, together forever, Love Never Dies, at least this kind of Love.

May God Bless You, Ginger, and your Parents in Heaven.

Love, Jenny Jenny Herndon

“ The McManus are so sad about your dad's passing. We have many wonderful memories of him and we will hold those close to us always.

It was always so nice to see his smiling face at the door when he came to my house every other week to clean my carpets. It was only natural that we would become friends. As he would work, one of the McManus' would walk around behind and chat. He always listened and got the biggest kick out of Aidan and Kailyn as they told him about their life. Taylor always came out and said hi and he would always reply "hi sweetie." After he was done I would pretend I didn't have a pen so I couldn't write a check (he starting carrying one after about 5 years) and we would have a cup of coffee together. This became our routine. As much as it sounds silly I would look forward to it every other week.

He loved to give me a hard time about my Boston teams and he would declare every time the Flyers played the Bruins that we were friends until 7:30!!

Your dad was a wonderful man who touched our hearts and our lives and it was a true honor to have known him.

All our Love,

The McManus Family
