“ Even though I did hear that Gary was not doing well, it deeply saddened me to hear of his passing. Growing up with him all the way to college, I have many memories I would like to share. First he had several nicknames with us, but the one that stuck was "Red". All of us still to this day call him that. He was a unique individual, but you knew you had a friend with him. As mentioned, he was a very dedicated Philadelphia sports fan. He loved them all, even the soccer team, the Atoms. I remember his favorite players like Larry Hisle, Greg Luzinski, Bill Bradley, Bill Flett and Wally Jones. Red, himself was a goal scoring right winger with a big slap-shot for our hockey team. He would broadcast the games as we played. He did not get the credit he deserved as a baseball player. Even though he was known, he was much better then most will ever know. He tore it up his junior year in baseball and hit a grand slam home run at Shawnee High School. To this day he would say "They're still looking for that ball". He was also known as the "World's Greatest Driver". A title we gave him because he was the first one of us to get his license and have a car. The "Mash". He was a big wrestling fan who loved the Valiant brothers and Buggy McGraw. We did not see much of each other the past years, but always inquired how he was doing with the ones who had been in touch. Now the first member of the original Fool n the Gang has passed. You will be missed my friend. My deepest condolences to your wife and sons and your sister Kay. Rest in peace and let that big shot go!
