

James "Jimmy" W. Wilson Jr.

December 18, 1973 - March 7, 2026

James Warren Wilson Jr., known affectionately as Jimmy, passed away on March 7, 2026, in Wrightstown, New Jersey. Born on December 18, 1973, in Wall Township, New Jersey, Jimmy lived a life marked by diligence and adventure.

Jimmy fought a tough battle with stage 4 pancreatic cancer, as he was only diagnosed in January of 2026.

Jimmy dedicated his career to the thrilling world of indoor racing and the meticulous craft of floor restoration. His commitment to excellence in both fields was evident to all who worked alongside him and benefited from floor restoration. His commitment to excellence in both fields was evident to all who worked alongside him and benefited from his expertise. He was an EMT and firefighter.

Outside of his professional life, Jimmy was a person of vibrant energy and varied interests. He was particularly known for his motivation, often managing multiple jobs and commitments simultaneously. An avid traveler, he cherished exploring new places, but equally treasured the moments spent at home with his family and friends. His love for his spouse, Charon Kouretas, was profound, and together they created countless cherished memories.

Jimmy is survived by his loving spouse, Charon Kouretas; his sons, Tyler and Caleb Wilson; stepdaughters, Kayley J. Badman and Alyssa N. Badman; and his granddaughter, Luna J. Rafios. He was preceded in death by Tristan L. Badman, a close family member.

At this time, no memorial services are planned. The Perinchief Chapels in Mt. Holly, New Jersey, are assisting the family during this difficult time. Jimmy's legacy of passion, hard work, and devotion to his loved ones will be deeply missed and forever remembered.
