When Sonny & I learned of your passing. Sadness was knowing you will not be stopping by. It was fun watching you two recall your past and hearing things you have done back in the day.

Knowing you are safe now and free from trying to catch your breath. You are now free from any illness and pain. BUT it is not a free pass card to chase the women. You be a good boy and just know you are truly missed.

I miss you, I also know and can see Sonny feels the loss and has a very heavy heart.

Be good.

PS I picked a blue candle for your little blue truck..... XO
