Kevin had a hard life and appeared to be alone in the world, but all these comments show that it was not so. That should be a comfort to his surviving family and friends. Let their memories of him be positive ones. David Gladfelter, Mount Holly.

“Wow where do I start Kevin was a very respectful and loving person. The conversation of Kevin and I were always a question. When will I go on a date with him. I would always say one day and he would say to me the day is right now. I always would tell him he had a bomb butt and he would laugh. Our last conversation was at Otts downtown mount holly and we hugged and took pictures 2 hours before he passed. I can at least say I got to enjoy his last moments and his warm smile. I told him I loved him and how good he looked. I will surely miss you my Kevin. Watch over us and have a Keystone for me love you

“ What I remember most about you is your will to survive and your determination Every time we met together- you were a true gentleman to me You always asked about my children , and your family - and often looked out for my youngest My heart and soul are grateful to have been put onto your path in the wonderful town that we grew up in ( as many times as I was able to be ). You've touched more lives than you realize and enabled people to understand about compassion and true friendship You've earned your wings my friend , please give Justice a huge squeeze for me and tell your mother I said hi When I see you again you're going to be restored to your physical , emotional and mental health , you will be well clothed. and well fed , warm and in the room of a mansion that we were promised Most of all you will be loved ❤️ Until we meet again ....

“ My name doesn't matter, I met this wonderful Human being on the streets of Lumberton. I said Hello...don't even ask his name...He started talking to me, instantly I realize he have a disability which remind me my son and a brother...After that day it was a mission from God to look for him and always give him something...I'm been looking for him on every corner since Monday and wondering if he was in the Hospital...But Today Sunday 19th, I was on my way to church and stop at the One Stop Shoppe and this guy that use to talk to him in the same spot call me and told me the saddest News...Did you know that your friend Kevin died....couldn't Believe....Cry so Much during Mass....
My dear Kevin you're on the best hands that can take care of you now:" THE LORD JESUS CHRIST""....No more worries, homeless or wondering where you will be sleeping when the night approach.....REST IN PEACE MY FRIEND.....
God Bless You Mamacita, was the Words that You Always refer to me.....In my hearth Always Kevin.....
