“ Leo, my nephew, I remember growing up with you and how close you were to your twin brother Jimmy. Jimmy and you were inseperable and all you had to do was call one twins name because you knew both would be together. I know that your brother passed on how much you missed him. I understand that in spite of your losses of your brother and your complications with Diabetes you carried on with courage and strength.

I will always be grateful how you looked after your Grandmom Regina in the nursing home. Daily you came by to check on her and tell her you cared about her. I know at last you are with your Mom, your Grandmom and finally reunited with your twin brother Jimmy. Wishing you joy and peace on the other side .

In the night of death, hope sees a star, and listening love can hear the rustle of an angel wing.
