“ I had the honor and pleasure of knowing Loretta and Bill for many years. Loretta always the feisty, spirited, witty and caring friend. She had a way of lifting your spirits with a quip and a kind word. My picture of a perfect couple would be Loretta and Bill. I'm sure she's gone ahead to make arrangements for their next honeymoon.##imported-begin##David McDonald##imported-end##

“ Mom,

The good Lord brought you home. You are now in a better place. You left this earth with dignity and you left this earth touching the lives of many. You have made a positive impact on many.

A few weeks ago on our nightly calls I told you and dad that both of you inspired me in many ways.

You, mom in your love and most recently in your courage to fight this terrible disease. When most would have taken the short road you remained steadfast to conquer the disease. The courage you exhibited and the mental fortitude to keep marching forward made a very lasting impression on me.

Dad, never waivered and stood by you every step of the way. I commented to you that even in the most trying times dad never complained, not once. The wedding vows you and dad took some 64 years ago have remained as true today as when originally vowed on that October day, when " for sickness and in health till death do us part".

Mom, the Lord took you home to be with Him. He will take very good care of you there as dad took care of you here on earth. There is no doubt that you are there with your mom, and dad, Uncle Al, Uncle Jim and the rest of the family and friends that have preceded you.

Mom, thanks for being my Mom, and Wendy's mother-in-law and Jennifer's grandmother. Your wisdom, your love and your ways will remain with us all the days of our lives.

Until we meet again Mom.

Love always,

Tom##imported-begin##Tom Gross##imported-end##

“ The first day I met "Mom" I wasn't quite sure which one she was as Tom said, "This is Mom and this is Mrs. Brandt." They both acted like they were his Mom and it wasn't until Mrs. Brandt went home that I knew which was which. After Tom and I got married, she was so thrilled to finally have a daughter after her two boys! And when we gave her Jennifer her joy was doubled. Then along came Christelle and finally Courtney and Brittney! As Tom so lovingly wrote in a poem years ago---one plus one equals nine. You were one of a kind and we will always miss you!!##imported-begin##Wendy Gross##imported-end##

“ There are so many things about my grandmother that i want to remember its impossible to write them all down in this message. However, i will always remember the last two things she said to me. The first was on her birthday weekend, i went to go kiss her goodbye in her chair and she said to me "be a good doctor for me. I know you can do it." these words will inspire me for the rest of my life. And the final thing she said to me lying in the hospital bed before she went in to the icu was that she loved me. another thing i will never forget. Grandma i love you, and ill miss you everyday! "For God so loved the world, that he sent his only son, so that whoever may believe in him might not perish, but have eternal life." John 3:16##imported-begin##Courtney Gross##imported-end##

“ Here are things I want to remember about Aunt Loretta:
Her laugh,
Leaving the price tags on the water glasses one Easter Sunday dinner,
Getting her rear end stuck in the rubber tub sleigh riding with us
when we were kids,
Mother's Day and "Who's Jack",
Pouring the turkey gravy down the kitchen sink drain one Easter
Sunday,
Throwing everyone out of the kitchen on Easter Sunday,
Her love of clothes,
QVC,
"We were her girls",
Her telling people she was my Mom's younger sister,
"Where are the coats?",
her courage.##imported-begin##Lori Finck##imported-end##
