“ A man dies with three possessions,
His heart, his soul and his spirit.
His heart stays with him.
His soul goes to God.
And his spirit lives in those who remain behind.

Our most sincerest condolences.

“ During the early 1990's Cora was a frequent world traveler with me and my Burlington County College travel groups. We visited many places in Europe together. Cora was a good traveler -- we used to kid her about how many pictures she took -- and that was before digital cameras. She brought along more film than anyone in the group. On one occasion, in Rome, as we visited the Sistene Chapel, she became separated from our group. It wasn't until the end of the tour that I discovered she was missing. We couldn't find her anywhere. I was confident, however, that she knew what to do -- and continued on the tour with the group. When we got back to our hotel a few hours later, there she was, waiting for us. She had enough sense not to panic, but to get back to the hotel on her own. I was saddened a few years ago when I learned she could no longer travel -- and I know she was, too. As I go through my old albums, there are many images of Cora, enjoying both the location and the people she was traveling with. I'll miss her, but she lives on in my many travel memories. Condolences to the family from Penny and me.##imported-begin##Joe and Penny Laufer##imported-end##

“ Mineyo-san,
Thank you for the spirit of encouragement you presented me and my family.
I still remember the sukiyaki plate you cooked when I visited Mt. Holly.
Please rest in peace.##imported-begin##Shin & Mieko Kora##imported-end##

“ We are so sorry to hear of Aunt Mineyo's passing.
I was used to be said that I look like to her. I guess living at a foreign country would be full of worry. She was always cheerful and positive person. I have many fun memories with her.
I would be there if I could. Please accept our most heartfelt sympathies for your loss.
