“ My sister in law Nancy had one of the biggest hearts. She was there for anyone who needed an ear or a shoulder to lean and/or cry on. She left a huge hole in our family but it helps to know how much she was loved and cared about by so many people. She is missed every day, so many times I've picked up my phone to text her or to look for my daily text of some joke she found to help get me thru the work day. I would give anything to have her back but I know she's up in heaven looking down on us all and protecting us. Love you Nancy!!

“ To the Rogers and Hinton Families:

Thank you for sharing Nancy with us. She gave us confidence that my young children would be safe getting to and from school and be met with a smile or kind word on the way. She was truly an example of love. She was patient, she was kind and she always protected. We will miss her.

“ It is the first day of classes at Sacred Heart School. As my girls and I turned the corner onto High Street heading toward Ridgeway, one of my daughters immediately remarked, "No Miss Nancy?" The other quickly chimed in, "Oh no - where could she be?"

I explained that I thought the public school didn't start till tomorrow so we would probably see her then. Unfortunately on my way back home, I learned from another local parent that we would not be so blessed to see Miss Nancy back on the corner tomorrow.

Miss Nancy always wore a smile on the job, no matter what the weather. When it was cold or rainy, she still had something positive to say about the day.

That particular crosswalk can get dicey with people in a hurry, turns onto Ridgeway slowing the High St traffic, drivers wanting to just slip around the turning car, etc... Miss Nancy would cheerfully bring order to the chaos. Her first charge was the safety of the walkers, young and old, but she was also so considerate of the drivers.

When drivers were too focused on getting to their destination to notice a group of walkers waiting to cross, Miss Nancy would fearlessly walk out into the road with her bright vest and large stop sign and pause the action, slowing life down for a minute to help everyone safely get where they needed to be.

And during those times when we had a few moments to chat, I learned that she certainly did love her family. And seeing Ashley visit her mom in the afternoons made me smile. What a lovely bond.

I know my girls will be so sad today when they come home and learn this news. They (and I) were so impressed by how cheerful and caring Miss Nancy was to them and all the walkers EVERY SINGLE DAY. May Nancy's incredible consistent example help us all to be courageous in tough situations needing order and to find joy in what we are doing, rain or shine.

*Our prayers are with the entire Rogers family.
