“ Aunt Pat, I still having a hard time believing you are no longer here to be my rock!

We have shared a lot over the years, you have always been there to listen offer advise and encouragement. You got me through some times when I needed it the most.

We have shared do many memories through the years; from our weekend camping trips. I will never forget you shaking the wooden spoon at us to shape up and get things done (not really sure if you scared those boys or not).

I will also never forget our Weight Watchers adventure together the good and the bad. The best was having dinner after the meeting at the Holly Brook. We may not have been Weight Watchers stars but we tried hard and had fun doing it. We also had our night walks with Sophie leading our way. Walking, talking and laughing made that mile and a half go by quickly.

Having you at my wedding is going to be one of our best memories. It was a great day and so glad you were there!

Now who am I going to talk about what has been on OVC????

I love you to the moon and back, you will be missed. I know you will still be there to listen if I need you.

I love you, and miss you! Thank you for being that rock and having a place in my heart that can never be replaced.

All of my love always,
Terry

“ Mom I still can't believe you are gone. You were the best! Living with you the last few years has been great for our relationship. We shopped together, cooked together and we were always talking about what we were watching on YouTube. You have no idea how much I miss you. Your empty chair brings me to tears every time I walk by it. I know you and dad are finally back together. I know you will watch over us. Love and miss you so much!
