“ Paul was a classmate of mine from Northern and we graduated in 1966. He was always an outgoing and super friendly guy and said "hi" when he passed you in the halls.

I was looking forward to seeing Paul at the reunion in the fall. But God had other plans for Paul.

My condolences go out to his wife, children and grandchildren. Always remember that Paul will be with you and you will feel his presence around you.

Sincerely,

“ You were one of my heroes Paul. You were one of the people I looked up to and said to myself, "I'd like to be more like Paul."

You raised the spirit of humanity, you brought love, joy, integrity, and light into a sometimes very dark world.

I am honored to have known you.##imported-begin##Michael Tillman##imported-end##

“ I met Paul through McKay, his brother in law when we got together online to play car racing games and later Wolfenstein. We would log on once a week and later twice a week to play. Paul being in New Jersey and the rest of us in Dayton, Ohio meant we didn't actually "meet" each other in the traditional sense but were friends nonetheless. We shared a love of motor racing, Formula 1 in particular (aren't many fans of that in the US!), visiting Fort Myers Florida and, of course gaming. We started as a bunch of guys working together, and Paul. As we all changed jobs and went our professional ways, we all still connected online to relieve our stress in socially acceptable mayhem. I will miss Paul very much. Rest in peace, my friend and strength to your family to deal with the loss of their husband, father, grandfather, uncle and more.##imported-begin##Eric Jensen##imported-end##

“ The greatest thing in life is love. To give and to receive. Paul gave love and he received love. These are the gifts that money cannot buy.

He knew he was a rich man and he was happy because of it. It didn't take much to make Paul happy - his wife Myra-his children Stephany & Mike, his grand children-all of them.

Paul was a patient and kind person. I knew Paul for 52 years, we met when we were 12 years old.

No matter how trying the situation, Paul just shook his head - and let it happen -

Myra and the kids were his world - if they were happy he was happy. He would want them to be happy now.

Do not stand at his grave and cry - he is not there he did not die - he is the wispering winds that blow - he is the star that shines at night - he is the twinkle in Miranda's eye-he is the smile on Drew's face - he is the heart of Lauren, Lacy and Jacob. They will remember their Pop Pop as long as he is remembered to them.

I bid my friend of 52 years farewell with fond memories of the cabin days, horse back riding, NBC high school, our rock n roll days...and the fun we had at Jim's Tavern in our early married years.... including the early hour breakfasts at 3 am and the cyclops Myra did for us! Again - with you just shaking your head- I will always remember Paul and Myra's friendship when I needed them and especially when my dad was called to Heaven....

I will see you on the other side. Rest in Peace Paul. You were loved more then you know.##imported-begin##Mary Ellen Lister##imported-end##
