“ Bob and I worked at Wills together and have known him a little less than a year. When I was new and in training, he was one of the first coworkers to befriend me and encourage me through the process. He would always give me a friendly wave when we passed each other in our buses. A couple of times he would see me pulled off to the side of the road. He would pull up beside me and check on me to make sure I was not in trouble. One time I had to take a different bus than I was used to driving. When I pulled into the yard and shut down one of the warning horns went off and I could not figure out how to disarm it. Bob heard it and came over then showed me the disarm button. We both served in the Air Force so we had that shared experience. I will miss him.
