“ *I knew Sally all of my life always a nice person and a great help at Smithville Mansion.

“ I consider Sally one of my best and longest friends. We grew up in the Arnold Ave and Miill Street neighborhood and lived there ad single parents with our children now all grown when she moved to live with Paul and Nancy a few years ago. It was a loss for both of us but she had a lovely home there. We shared many things -- our sons were friends. Granddaughters born within weeks of each other etc. We shared a love of traveling and books. Quilting was so special to us and we spent many hours quilting and sewing for charities. She was most influential in getting me started in quilting and a great teacher.

Sally was one of the most loving and giving persons I know. Our last telephone talk on New Year's Day lasted about an hour reminiscing about so many things and our quilting trips and projects and our grandchildren and great grandchildren. There were health concerns but we ended on a high note laughing at past times and planning to share lunch with Janice at Carlucci's in February. Sally was very special and I will along with many others miss her. Rest in peace my dear friend.
