“ Shirley and I spent many hours on Hollybrook Drive discussing politics, traveling, family, books, pets and whatever was the hot topic of the day. I knew her as very tenderhearted and sincere. Quiet, and perhaps timid sometimes, she met life's challenges in her own way. I will miss her when I visit her family on Hollybrook. I will miss her at family gatherings. I appreciated her friendship and will certainly miss her. Love you, Shirley!

“ Shirley was always a faithful participant in our Alpha courses at First Presbyterian Church every Wednesday night. It was a rare gift to get comments from Shirley, but her answers and observations always spoke a quiet truth. We knew, though, that her family came first and if there was a birthday party - she would be celebrating with her family! Her trips with the Episcopal group were also her priority - no matter where they went, she loved the visiting and the conversations.

At one time we had three ladies with the same name and from that season on, she was our Little Shirley. And won't she be missed...
