As his wife of 54 years, I can attest to the greatness of this man. He loved and put his entire family above everything else in his life. He enjoyed hunting, preferring bow over shotgun, the outdoors, long walks, working on cars and building things such as bookcases, coffee tables, etc. He could always be found tinkering in his garage, playing his favorite country music. He loved pulling pranks and then would give you the most innocent grin.

He was so absolutely adored by me, his children, grandchildren, great grandchildren and everyone related to him.
