“ We have many fond memories of Bill Burk and his wonderful wife, Mary. We met them when we were playing a picnic back in the late 1980's. Bill was playing music the same day (after us) with Gary Gladwell and Fred Cooper and a bass player (whose name I forget). Bill loved country music and sang with a soulful expression that showed how much he loved it. I never saw him wear any other shoes than cowboy boots. :o)
Bill & Mary were a sweet, kind couple; very unassuming and enjoyed life to the fullest. They volunteered for Habitat for Humanity in Florida and loved traveling in their RV. They had many friends who loved them, including us.... we will miss them both terribly. Bill & Mary were inseparable, and I picture them now reunited now and happy to be "Together Again."
Sincere Condolences to Bill's family & friends,
